1. A - wake our souls, and bless his name, Whose mercies ne - ver fail; Who o - pens wide a door of hope, In A - chor's gloo - my vale.

2. En - ter my soul with cheerful haste, For Je - sus is the door; Nor fear the serpent's wi - ly arts, Nor fear the li - on's roar.

Be - hold the por - tal wide dis - played, The buil - dings strong and fair; With - in are pastures fresh and green, And li - ving streams are there.

O may thy grace the na - tions lead, And Jews and Gen - tiles come, All trav'ling in one nar - row path, To one e - ter - nal home.
